

THE WILD ROBOT DIORAMA

MONROE: ONE BOOK, ONE SCHOOL 2024

Diorama: a replica of a scene, typically a three-dimensional miniature model, Creating a book diorama is a fun and creative way to bring a story to life. By adding items gradually, your child(ren) can build up their diorama while enjoying the process.

Preparation: Start by selecting a shoebox or other small container. This will serve as the base for your project. You can also begin to sketch out your ideas and gather materials like colored paper, glue, and even items you find outside. Each week you will add to the diorama to display what is happening in the book. At your own pace, add additional characters to your diorama. You can use small figurines, paper cutouts, or even create your own characters out of clay. Place them in the scene to bring the story to life and add depth to your diorama. Creativity and imagination are key. There is no right or wrong way to make your diorama.

Mrs. Wodka will be displaying hers in the library if you would like some inspiration.

March 11th - 15th: Create your setting. Add Roz, the robot, and camouflage her in the setting.

March 18th - 22nd: Add Brightbill, the gosling.

March 25th - 29th: Spring Break - Great time to catch up or add extra details

April 1st - 5th: Create a wooden foot for Roz.

April 8th - 12th: Create a lodge for Roz and any additional animals.

April 15th - 19th: Create the ending of the book. Finalize your diorama by adding any finishing touches and details.

Please bring your diorama to school the week between April 18th - April 24th. We will display them around the school and during Fine Arts Night for everyone to enjoy.
